A FIERCE TIME IN CONGRESS.

MEMBER DENOUNCED AS A LIAR AND AN AGITATOR.

Mr. Lentz, of Ohio, Says that Soldiers in the Philippines are Justified in Deserting, and His Remarks Cause a Furore of Excitement.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The House finally passed the sundry civil appropriation bill today and entered upon consideration of the general deficiency—the last of the general appropriation bills. Mr. Lentz, an Ohio Democrat, who in this and the previous Congress has violently attacked the administration, furnished the sensation of the day. He used a newspaper paragraph recounting the death of Charles Lyland, territorial judge of New Mexico, who had been a member of the Legislature which elected Senator Hanna, as a text for charging corruption in that election. This called forth a severe rebuke from Mr. Cannon. General Grosvenor, of Ohio, attempted to reply and the two Ohioans were anxious for the fray, but Mr. Cannon would not permit it. He thought if "dirty linen" was to be washed the gentlemen should hire a hall. Later Mr. Lentz made a second onslaught of a more sensational character on the troops in the Philippines, and brought down upon himself the whole Republican side of the House.

After the sundry civil bill had been reported to the House and passed, the House went back into committee of the whole and took up the general deficiency appropriation bill. Speaking for a pro forma amendment, Mr. Lentz attacked corruption in high and low places, charging that a judicial place had been given Mr. Lyland for his vote for United States Senator.

Mr. Steele, of Indiana, made the point or order that Mr. Lentz was not speaking to the subject under consideration, but "was jumping on a dead man."

"I am not jumping on a dead man," retorted Mr. Lentz, "but on a man who is so alive that he will ride down Pennsylvania avenue with the President one week from Monday."

Mr. Grosvenor sought to reply to Mr. Lentz, who refused to allow him to do so. Mr. Grosvenor then angrily declared that the gentleman from Ohio, Mr. Lentz, had been guilty of a malicious falsehood. "And he knows it," added Mr. Grosvenor.

A very sensational episode occurred when the paragraph providing that not over $50 should be paid for the apprehension of a deserter from the army was reached. The paragraph was seized upon by Mr. Lentz for a base for an attack. He declared that reports were coming back from the Philippines that our soldiers were killing prisoners, and he said that he knew of a letter received by the father of a soldier in the Philippines telling of how a native had been buried alive by his captors and then beheaded. If that was the sort of civilization that was being carried into the Philippines, Mr. Lentz declared that it would take $5,000 to prevent our soldiers from deserting. Again and again he shouted that they were justified in deserting.

Mr. Lentz's remarks aroused the House to a fever pitch. Mr. Graham, Republican, of Pennsylvania, challenged Mr. Lentz to produce the letter he had referred to, which Mr. Lentz replied could not be produced without getting the boy into trouble.

Mr. Cannon in impressive tones declared that a gentleman who would rise in his place in the American Congress and advise men who had enlisted under the American flag to desert might be safe here, but if he should say the same things in the Philippines he would be tried by drumhead court-martial and shot. This statement brought forth rounds of applause from the Republican side.

But Mr. Lentz returned to the assault. He read a newspaper account of a letter alleged to have been received by the father of a soldier, saying that the soldiers were ordered to shoot every man and beast they found. Mr. Lentz declared that he could not be "brown-beaten." If such orders had been issued, he said, this Congress collectively should be ashamed to face the world. He charged that our soldiers were guilty of murder and said that the time had come when the country was entitled to know the facts and not to rely upon a censored press.

Mr. Cannon said the gentleman was lashing himself into a passion while the men he slandered were busy in the performance of their duty.

Mr. Cannon said that in his life time he had heard more eloquent men than the gentleman from Ohio encourage desertion. "When the life of the nation was at stake," said he, "men all over the North stood behind the firing line and encouraged desertion. I leave the gentlemen to the contempt of an indignant people," concluded Mr. Cannon amid a whirlwind of applause. "Was the gentleman on the firing line?" cried Mr. Lentz.

"It matters not where I was," retorted Mr. Cannon. "I was not disloyal then, nor now." (Renewed Republican applause.)

Mr. Mahon, Republican, of Pennsylvania, challenged Mr. Lentz to bring in a resolution to ask the Secretary of War whether such orders as he had referred to had ever been issued. The result he said would show the report to be a falsehood. "I have heard such speeches as the gentleman delivered before," he continued. "They are but a revamp of the copperhead speeches from 1861 to 1865. The copperhead charged every sin in the calendar to the Union soldiers. The boys in the Philippines are deserting because you encourage them to desert and the man who encourages them is worse than the deserter. During the rebellion I thought that if 8,000 or 10,000 of the copperheads had been shot we would not have been troubled with desertion. Some of those men still live—thank God, very few. (Applause.) There are none in my State. The people nor the press in my State could make such charges as the gentleman has made. I am not surprised that the good people of Ohio left you at home—not because you charged that the administration paid $100,000 to defeat you; you are not worth it—but because of your everlasting demagogism." (Loud Republican applause.)

This brought Mr. Lentz to his feet. When he declared himself a Jeffersonian-Lincoln Democrat the Republicans jeered. Proceeding he charged that his defeat had been compassed by bribery right and left. "I was defeated," he concluded, "and you are welcome to the glory and satisfaction of it."

Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, also paid his respects to Mr. Lentz for terming himself a follower of Jefferson and Lincoln, and Mr. Moody, Republican, of Massachusetts, almost brought his side of the House up standing by reading an utterance of Lincoln condemning more the "wily agitator" who induced the soldier to desert than the soldier himself.

"Has Massachusetts shot Senator Hoar?" shouted Mr. Lentz.

"Oh, get out," called Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania. The excitement then subsided.

To Live in Washington.

Mr. H. S. Bradley, for the past two or three years connected with the roadway department of the Southern Railway in this city, has accepted a position in Washington City in the office of Mr. Lum, engineer of bridges and left last night to enter upon his new duties.

Mr. Bradley, during his stay in Greensboro, has made many friends who will regret to lose him.

To Spend Some Time in Florida.

Mr. J. M. Walker, accompanied by Mr. J. A. Davidson, of Gibsonville, left this morning for Tallahassee, Fla., in the interest of the Brooks-Davidson Lumber Company. They will be absent some time.

THE PHILIPPINE COMMISSION

BUSILY ENGAGED IN ESTABLISHING CIVIL GOVERNMENTS.

So Far Six Hundred Thousand Persons Have Received the Benefit of Its Efforts—Will Start for Southern Provinces About the First of March.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Manila, Feb. 21.—Up to the present time six hundred thousand persons have received the benefit of the civil government established at various places by the Philippine commission. The various provincial offices took the oath of office today before Chief Justice Arellano and members of the commission, after which Chairman Taft explained again their duties. He told them that they would exercise their duties under supervision of the head of the insular government who at present is General MacArthur, the military governor.

The commission will start out again next week to organize civil governments at other places, and will start for the southern provinces about the tenth of March.

S. S. CONVENTION.

Opened at High Point Last Night With Large Attendance—Prohibitionists.

Special to The Telegram.

High Point, Feb. 21.—The State Sunday School convention was called to order last night at 8 o'clock by Mr. N. B. Broughton, of Raleigh, chairman of the executive committee. The president, Hon. B. R. Lacy, could not be present on account of special duties at Raleigh at this time.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. C. S. Blackwell, of Wilmington.

Geo. W. Watts, Durham; Marion Lawrence, International General Secretary; H. W. Hamill, International Field Secretary, and other international officers were introduced to the audience and asked to take seats on the rostrum.

The address of welcome was delivered by Prof. Geo. E. Crowell, of High Point, and responded to by Rev. A. D. Thaler, of Winston, after which Prof. H. M. Hamill delivered a masterly address on the work.

The convention is by far the largest in its history, and the meeting promises to be a great one in every respect.

Prof. Excell will arrive today. The Prohibitionists met here yesterday and formulated plans for organizing the work of the party, and decided to put workers in the field. They adopted the "No-License Advocate," Danville, Va., as organ in this State. Edwin Shaver, T. P. Johnson, Rev. J. W. Holt were among the prominent prohibitionists present.

EPPI RECAPTURED.

A Bold Convict Who Escaped From the Road Will Go Back.

The exploits of the white convict, E. P. Epps, who, something over a year ago, escaped from the chain gang, will be easily recalled. Convicted of stealing a large quantity of goods from the Finishing Mill, he was sentenced to the road. After working there about three months he concocted a plan with two others—a white man and a negro—to escape. He was successful in the attempt, but it cost the other two the loss of their lives. Epps was shrewd enough, when the attempt to escape was made, to keep the other men between himself and the guards. The consequence was that when the guards fired these two men were killed and Epps escaped. The officers have since been on a sharp lookout for him, and Chief Scott has located him and caused his arrest in Danville. He is now in the hands of the officers awaiting to be brought back, when he will be required to serve out his time on the roads.

Committee Appointed.

Mr. E. P. Wharton, chairman of the meeting held night before last to discuss the proposed revenue bill, yesterday afternoon appointed the following committee to go to Raleigh to investigate: Messrs. A. M. Scales, C. E. Holton, C. G. Wright, C. H. Ireland, Z. V. Taylor. A part of the committee went to Raleigh this morning.

Big Fire in Atlanta.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 21.—Fire broke out this morning in the business section of the city bounded by Decatur, Lloyd and Wall streets and Railroad Avenue, and destroyed property worth half a million.

Jeffries May be Put Out.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Cincinnati, Feb. 21.—Jeffries has been injured in the knee and may be put out of the ring for all the time. This state of affairs was brought to the surface today when one of the most noted surgeons examined him. His ailment was pronounced to be a condition known as floating cartilage. One of the symptoms is a sudden sickening pain that may cause vomiting and sometimes fainting spells. The sufferer at the same time cannot move his joints and often falls to the ground. This is followed by swelling of the joints and considerable soreness. The attacks come without warning.

Telegraphic Briefs.

It is reported that the British Parliament will be invited to vote one hundred thousand pounds for Lord Roberts.

A Carey, Pa., telegram says that the blizzard which has raged for nearly thirty-six hours is abating, and trains are running as usual.

A big fire in the suburbs of Brussels this morning, destroyed 1,000,000 francs of property, and killed two firemen.

JUNIOR OFFICERS.

Those Who will Serve During Present Year.

The State Council, of North Carolina, Jr., O. U. A. M., closed its tenth annual session, in Winston, this morning. The Greensboro contingent, Messrs. L. C. Howlett, C. E. Brower, G. C. Smith, A. A. Chandler and W. I. Underwood, returned at noon.

Before adjourning the State Council elected the following officers:

S. C.—C. B. Webb, Statesville.
S. V. C.—J. B. Moore, Washington.
S. C. S.—Sam F. Vance, Winston.
S. C. T.—J. T. Thacker, Greensboro.
S. C. C.—J. N. Maxwell, Salisbury.
S. C. W.—T. G. Cobb, Morganton.
S. C. I. S.—W. E. Yopp, Wilmington.
S. C. O. S.—W. A. Fogleman, Salisbury.

Chaplain—Rev. W. H. Roach, High Point.

Last night an elegant banquet was spread at the Hotel Phoenix. Covers were laid for about 150 persons, a majority of whom were visiting Juniors. Toasts were responded to by Mayor Eaton, Congressman-elect Blackburn, State Councilor Webb, Past State Councilor W. E. Faison; Rev. E. F. Sawyer, of Elizabeth City; J. W. C. Deake, of Asheville and others.

The next meeting of the State Council will be held in Wilmington.

High Point Protests.

Correspondence of The Telegram.

High Point, Feb. 20.—At a meeting of the Business Men's Association last night certain clause in the revenue act now before the Legislature were discussed at some length. There was a universal expression of disapproval as to the clauses which puts unjust taxation on the industrial enterprises of the State, and especially the clause which requires these firms and corporations to make bare all of their dealings as it is against all well founded business principles.

A committee composed of A. E. Tate, W. G. Bradshaw, J. J. Farriss, R. A. Wheeler and Dr. J. A. Turner was appointed a committee to draft resolutions and also to visit the legislative committee, impressing the disapproval of certain clauses of the proposed act.

The following resolution was passed: "Whereas: The revenue bill proposed by the committee of the present Legislature, as reported in the press of the State, is believed to be injurious and destructive to progress and enterprise, and detrimental to all business interests of our State, a hardship to many people already burdened with like expense. Resolved that the Association protest against part of proposed act."

EXAMINING BOARDS CREATED.

WILL LOOK AFTER ALL INSTITUTIONS OF THE STATE.

One Member of the Board Must be of Minority party—Amnesty Extended to All Persons Charged With Misdemeanors at The August Election.

Special Dispatch to The Telegram.

Raleigh, Feb. 21.—A prohibition bill for Bladen county was introduced in the House.

A bill was also presented to consolidate the Negro Normal schools.

The bill creating a board of examiners for all State-aided institutions came up again. Watts withdrew his amendment forbidding the appointment of persons residing in the county where an institution is located. The amendment that a member of the minority party should be appointed was adopted and the bill passed final reading.

A bill giving amnesty to persons charged with irregularities or misdemeanors at the election last August, passed. The Republicans and Populists voted against it.

The bill giving Tarboro a dispensary passed.

The Senate discussed the divorce bill but did not reach a vote.

The bill regarding judgment against the homestead passed in the shape of a substitute requiring the allotment of homesteads, by a vote of 21 to 15.

SERIOUS SITUATION.

The Emperor of Austria Threatens to Dismiss Reichrath.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Vienna, Feb. 21.—The political situation is most serious because of trouble between factions in the parliament, and Emperor Francis Joseph threatens to assume absolute dictatorship.

At midnight the Emperor summoned Dr. Van Koerler, the Premier, and said that he would prorogue the Reichrath and govern it until it ceased to disgrace Austria in the eyes of the world. The Premier plead for time, and the Emperor finally agreed to give the Reichrath one more chance.

There is little hope of the disturbing factions getting together and transacting business in peace.

Lecture Under Adverse Circumstances.

This morning a twelve-year-old son of Jim Smith, colored, was given a flogging at police headquarters by his father, in lieu of having him prosecuted for the theft of a pistol from the residence of Mrs. Henderson. The boy carried bundles from Mrs. Henderson's millinery store, and while on a trip to her residence, stole the pistol which she kept for protection in the house.

Jim appeared to be terribly outraged in his feelings at the boy for so dishonoring the family, and when he got three good size sprouts to administer the medicine with, he twisted them with a satisfied air. The unworthy son took off two coats and the exercise began. Jim began his lecture simultaneously with the flogging. After the first lick or two he dropped all his switches but one, and he didn't use that very vigorously, but he kept up his lecture about evil doers and bad associates. "Ain't I told you 'bout goin' wid Tom? He'll git you on de roads yet."

It certainly ought not to be put to the boy's debt if he doesn't remember all the words of the lecture. His surroundings were not conducive to unusual mental receptivity.

Wrong Man?

Mr. A. E. Shores, of Yadkin county, was brought before Judge James E. Boyd this morning on a bench warrant. Mr. Shores claimed that it was a case of mistaken identity, and that he was not the man sought for. The Judge then gave the case to Commissioner Wolfe for trial. It will come up on March the 11th.

Mr. Shores was admitted to bail.

HEARD AND SEEN IN WASHINGTON.

A Cowboy in the Senate-- Senator Teller's "Cuby" ---Burning Hawaiian Stamps.

Washington Telegram to Chicago Tribune.
Uncle Sam is supplying many of the department employes with stationery, ink, paste, erasers, matches, inkstands, paper-weights, blotting paper, pencils, pens, scissors, paper cutters and a thousand other small but useful articles kept on hand for the use of the government. Bills of this material are paid for by the government. These articles are not given to the employees who take them to their homes, for no one has the authority to give away the property belonging to the United States. Plain-spoken persons might term the way in which this material is acquired petit larceny, but those who come into possession of these articles in this manner would be indignant if such a harsh term were used.

Ignoring the proper term by which this practice should be characterized, it is nevertheless true that Uncle Sam is thousands of dollars poorer at the end of each fiscal year by the operations of those who find it convenient to appropriate articles for their own use for which the government has contracted and paid.

There is no secrecy, for clerks carry boldly off articles in the presence of the chiefs of bureaus. The practice is now so common nothing seems to be thought of it.

Cowboy in the Senate.

Washington Telegram to Pittsburgh Dispatch.
Should the members of the Nebraska Legislature decide that Frank M. Currie is good enough to represent their State in the United States Senate that reverend tribunal will have among its members for the first time in its history a genuine cowboy. Currie is the leading candidate in the long term fight, and is picked by knowing ones as the eventual victor in that picturesque contest. As a cowboy, he is the unbridled article, being one by occupation and preference. He is, moreover, well educated, being a B. A. and M. A. of Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa. Currie's home is a 4,500-acre ranch in the heart of the cattle country. Over his large stock of cattle he exercises personal supervision, spending most of his time riding the range, and at the great round-ups wielding the lasso and branding iron. He was born in Pennsylvania, and has been in turn editor, school teacher, lawyer and ranchman. The last eight years have been spent on the range, and it is said he desires nothing more in life, unless it be to have his name blazoned on the roster of the Senate. With the probable appearance on the floor of this king of the cowboys and the advent of that mightiest and most festive of all nimrods in the Vice-President's chair, splendid assurance is given that there will be lively "doins" in the Senate for at least a time to come.

Hawaiian Stamps Burned.

Washington Star.
Fifty-seven thousand eight hundred dollars' worth of old Hawaiian stamps went up in smoke today. They were the remnants of the republic of Hawaii, and destroyed by order of the Postmaster General. It is usual to destroy all old stamps as soon as they go out of use, and when the United States annexed Hawaii all the stamps of the island were called in and new ones substituted. The substitutes were the regulation kind used throughout the United States. The cremation took place in the engine room of the post-office building, and Chief Scott, of the stamp division, saw to it personally that they were all destroyed. Next week 23,000 one and two cent postal cards will be consigned to the flames.

Roosevelt Will be Busy.

Washington Telegram to Savannah, Ga., News.
Vice President Roosevelt has every hour filled for inauguration week. He and Mrs. Roosevelt are scheduled to appear at a dinner party each night, and as they are distinctly the lions, all hostesses are endeavoring to secure them for one function or another. The Colonel enjoys this sort of thing, but society tempts his wife so little that she will remain but one week in Washington, forsaking the gayeties of the spring season for her home, at Oyster Bay, where she and her family will remain until next autumn.

Senator Teller's "Cuby."

Washington Post.

Senator Teller always pronounces "Cuba" as if it were written "Cuby." And thereby hangs a tale.

Mr. Teller was born in Allegheny county, N. Y. The chief town in that county is Cuba, but from time immemorial its people have called it "Cuby." Mr. Teller grew up with these people and "Cuba" has always been "Cuby" to him. Even Dockkeeper Glenn, of the House, who is the owner and editor of the Cuba Daily Patriot, always uses the local pronunciation.

INTER-CLASS DEBATE.

The Juniors and Seniors at Guilford College to Argue an Interesting Question Saturday Night.

Correspondence of The Telegram.

Guilford College, Feb. 21.—On Saturday evening, February 23rd, at 7:30 p. m., there will be an inter-state debate at Guilford college.

The Junior and the Senior classes will discuss the question, Resolved; that the United States alone should construct and operate the Nicaragua Canal. The Seniors representing the affirmative and the Juniors the negative sides respectively.

This is the first of a series of inter-class debates planned to take place at Guilford during the present term. It is likely that the Freshmen and the Sophomores will come to terms upon the debate sometime in the near future.

Much interest centers in the debate to take place Saturday night as the classes are very evenly matched in their debating qualities, and both seem confident of victory.

The question is live and up-to-date and will be handled in an instructive manner, so that not only much profit but also a great deal of enjoyment will accrue to the audience in watching the friendly rivalry of the participants.

The debate will take place in the Auditorium of Memorial Hall and the public are cordially invited.

The contestants elected by the Literary Societies for the Annual Oration Contests are hard at work on their orations, and the contests this year promise to be as good, if not better, than ever before.

The Philagorean Society will be represented by Misses, Cobb, Millis, Fair-H. Holt, Coffin and Cartland.

The Henry Clay Society by Messrs. Henderson, C. E. Leak, H. P. Leak, Whitlock and Paisley.

The Websterian Society by Messrs. Hol, Daniels, Short, Glenn and Dixon.

Mr. C. C. Fordham moved today from West Gaston and Edgeworth, to corner of West Gaston and Spring, into one of Dr. Grissom's houses.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21.

Those who read in yesterday's paper the speech of Representative Whitaker of Guilford, on the impeachment proceedings, noted that he gave his brother members one particularly ticklish punch in the fifth ribs. He took the position that the impeachment was without the authority of the people, and intimated that some of the members had as good as said that it was none of the peoples' business. Replying to this sentiment Mr. Whitaker remarked that the members were very anxious to refer questions of much less importance to the people, and that many of them couldn't locate a school house on a cross fence without going to the people. This is a point well taken and will prove to be worth pondering on.

The Guilford Battle Ground Company, Greensboro, and the people of this entire section are to be congratulated on the fact that Governor Charles B. Aycock has consented to deliver the next annual address at the celebration on July 4th, next. This announcement is made well in advance in order that other gatherings of one kind and another which occur about that time of the year in this section, may be set so as not to conflict with this one. Every body in this region will want to be here then and they ought not to have their allegiance to their home celebrations strained by having to leave them. We congratulate Major Morehead and Judge Schenck on the success of their efforts in securing the Governor's promise to be here.

In his speech at the Normal and Industrial College Monday evening Senator McIntyre said that in less than twelve months the people of this State would witness a sight which they have never before seen, to wit: Their Governor going up and down the State making a campaign for education. We take it that Senator McIntyre, who is in close touch with the educational thought and work of the State, did not make this statement without grounds, and hence it must be that such a campaign is to be made by Governor Aycock. We hope this may prove true.

Dr. George L. Kirby, Superintendent of the Central Asylum at Raleigh died Tuesday, and the State has lost an honored and useful citizen. He had reached his 66th year, and died of pneumonia.

The esteemed Commoner does not seem to be attracting quite so much attention. Will it be ineffectual as a means of keeping its editor and publisher before the public?

The bill introduced in the House Tuesday requiring dealers in deadly weapons to get a license of $25 is good enough to pass.

The practice of rising to a question of personal privilege seems to have fallen into innocuous desuetude.

Mrs. Harry Thornton Dead.

Mrs. Harry Thornton, who has been critically ill for several days at her home in Pittsburg, Pa., died yesterday afternoon, a telegram to that effect reaching here too late for publication yesterday.

The remains will be brought to Greensboro tonight and the funeral services conducted tomorrow, at 2 o'clock, from the residence of Mrs. Lampman, on West Lee street.

Mrs. Thornton was a daughter of the late George Lampman, of this city. She leaves a husband and one child, a boy of two years of age.

FROM THE MORNING PAPERS.

The famous observatory on the See-burg, at which the celebrated astronomers Euckol, Zack and Lindenau worked, has been destroyed by fire.

The stockholders of the Westinghouse Electric Company have decided to increase the capital stock $10,000,000, making the total authorized issue $25,000,000.

The work of recovering the bodies of the victims of the mine disaster at Cumberland B. C., proceeds very slowly. So far eight bodies have been found, four being white.

Four murders and two disappearances are reported from Santa Clara, Cuba. It is said that the men were killed while attempting to burn sugar fields. The civil governor of the province is investigating.

A St. Petersburg dispatch says: "It is understood that the Anglo-Russian syndicate recently formed to construct railroads and exploit mines includes representatives of the Vanderbilt interests. The management is in the hands of influential Russians."

The board of police commissioners of New York yesterday handed down a decision dismissing the charges made against Police Captain Herlihy, accused of neglect of duty, failure to keep his complaint book properly and the use of abusive language toward the Rev. Mr. Paddock, of the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral.

A train was derailed by the Boers near Jadbosch and looted by natives. Two cars were ordered out and the Boers fired on them, killing two persons and wounding many.

At Stringtown, W. Va., a fire last night destroyed several buildings and John Clendenning was burned to death. Two men have been arrested for arson and murder. It is regarded as part of a crusade in the village against the dives and speak-easies.

The United States District Court for the southern district of Georgia has received from the Atlas Steamship Company, of Kingston, Jamaica, a certified check for $50,000, the amount being prize money awarded the captors of the British steamer Audula, of the Atlas Line, during the Spanish war.

As a result of the giving way of a wall the Asylum mines at Tuscaloosa, Ala., were flooded yesterday afternoon and thirteen negro miners are now entombed in ten feet of water, it is thought, with little prospect of being rescued. The surrounding waters run into the mine as rapidly as it is pumped out. When the first rush of water entered the mine eleven miners were able to get out.

Judge Hazen, of the District Court, of Topeka, yesterday continued the case of Mrs. Carrie Nation, charged with smashing Murphy's joint, until the April term of court. The cases against Eva Harding, Mrs. Rose Crist, Miss Madeline Southard, Mrs. C. C. Chadwick and C. D. McDowell were also continued. Mrs. Nation enlivened the proceedings in her characteristic way. Several times she addressed the judge as "your dishonor." Judge Hazen announced that he would call the case against Stark on Monday morning. Stark is a young clerk who assisted in the raid Sunday.

Bessie and Alice Wilkes, aged 16 and 18, were cremated in a fire at the home of their widowed mother, Mrs. Wilkes, at Prattville, Ala., early yesterday morning. The charred remains of one of the young girls was found in the hall. The other was found with a mattress over her head, which she placed there in endeavoring to protect herself from the flames. The mother, in saving the life of her blind son, forgot about her daughters.

In an attempt to make a negro charged with assault confess, at Dyersburg, Tenn., a mob strung him up five times. He was then carried back to jail. Fred King, another negro implicated, confessed that they had five of the best young women of the place slated for attack.

A Strong Combination.

The Academy of Music management announces as their attraction for Monday night, next, Mr. Frank Adams, in Uncle Henz. This comedy, while belonging to the rural class, is, they say, different from others. The plot introduces all or nearly all of the familiar characters that we know in the smaller country towns—characters that we meet every day in real life—but the combination is new and novel and while we seem in touch with old friends, we see them in new situations and climaxes. The costume and make up of each character is perfect in every detail and the surroundings are in keeping with them. The play, written especially for this company, is bright and clean and sparkles with real fun. The ludicrous adventures of Uncle Henz are amusing in the extreme and his agility and nerve in time of danger give zest to the piece. His ever ready pocket book figures largely and his idea of society is unique. The supporting company of actors, singers and dancers are capable, and a theatrical festival of fun may be expected. The prices are 15, 25 and 30c.

Don't miss getting a lady's bargain ticket for the opening performance.

Joshua Got a Warm Reception by His Wife After Betting on the Horse Races.

He did not arrive home for dinner until 7 o'clock the other evening, and he looked gloomy as he hung up his hat in the hall. She sat waiting for him, with a stern face, in the sitting-room. "Perhaps you will be good enough to explain," she said in a hard tone, "what kept you away from your—"

"Cynthia," he interrupted, "I have been—heaven forgive me—at the races!"

She leaped from her chair with a suppressed cry of deep misery of spirit, and stood confronting him.

"Joshua Upblock," she exclaimed, wringing her hands, "how dare you stand there and calmly tell me that you have lost those $47 you had with you when you left the house this morning? Do you not know—it's a pity you're not old enough to know—that the race tracks bring wretchedness and shame and misery and degradation to more American homes than 20 entire census forces could enumerate? Do you think you can afford to lose half a month's pay at a miserable race track when your poor, suffering wife hasn't a single stitch to her back that is fit to be seen? Do you—"

"But," he cut in, with a grin, pulling out a wad of about the proportions of a bottle of olives and throwing it on the table, "I didn't do a thing but eat up the card from beginning to end, and I socked 'em with a 20-to-1 shot in the last race. And it's just up to you to pick out your automobile coat and your turquoise ring."

"Why, you dear, lovely, precious, tantalizing old thing you!" she exclaimed, with brimming eyes, throwing her arms around his neck.

Note—All women are dead game winners.

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employe of Bartlett & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the store of Mr. Houlehan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and have since always turned to it when I got a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines." For sale by C. E. Holton.

For the weakness and prostration following gripe there is nothing so prompt and effective as One Minute Cough Cure. This preparation is highly endorsed as an unfailing remedy for all throat and lung troubles and its early use prevents consumption. It was made to cure quickly.

His Educated Bee

"I'M A-GOING to tell you fellows about my educated bee, Bizzer," said Uncle Hi. "This here bee an' I was out in my garden that day. I was there lookin' around an' the bee he was trespassin' onto some o' my flowers. It's hard to fool a bee on the weather, but this shower came up so almighty quick I was fooled myself. First I knew it was crack-crack all over my head. I put fer the house and the bee put fer his house, an' a big hailstone cracked him one, as purty a wing shot as I'd want to make on a pattridge. Down come Mr. Bee, bizzin' right across my face, an' fell a'most under my feet. He was sich a big, fine-lookin', intelligent actin' bee that I picked up careful an' took him to my house, not seein' any probability of his gettin' to his own. The next hailstone would have finished his cay-reer."

"It took some little time for that bee to git used to me. I fed him good on sugar an' water till I got him so I could handle him. Then I took to lettin' him fly aroun' the room. One day I found him settin' a-top of a whisky bottle that happened to be there—I'd been havin' a cold that week—bizzin' his wings an' seemin' mighty satisfied with the smell of the cork. That put it into my head to try him with a little whisky an' sugar an' he took to it kindly. I wouldn't give it to him regular, understand, fer it ain't no part of Uncle Hi's make-up to be corruptin' the beasts of the field with strong drink; but just a appetizer before meals."

"He never got drunk but once, an' that was excusable, fer I was on a bit of a celebrate myself that time, an' spilled a lot of whisky on the floor. I guess Bizzer must have seed spiders in his dreams that night, for he was mighty ashamed of himself next day, an' it was a week before he'd take his morning snifter. Wal, with the aid of that whisky I got him so's he'd answer to his name an' come flyin' to me bizzin' his wings like a locust whenever I'd call him. I could let him out of the house without fear that he'd run away. We'd go out fer walks together an' he'd chase flies or fight with darnin' needles, or go honey suckin' in the flowers, or may be stop to pass the time of day with some wild bee, but whatever the wild bees said to him they never got him to leave me."

"Back he'd come when I called, an' in the evenin' after his nightcap of whisky he'd curl up in the corner of a little box I fix for him an' go to sleep. There was only one thing wrong with Bizzer. He was almighty jealous. I had a pet chipmunk around the place, an' Bizzer wouldn't endure that chip. He'd buzz aroun' the chip's head an' then he'd light on the end of chip's tail till the poor little critter went a'most loony with fear that he'd get stung. Lively as the chip was, Bizzer was a sight livelier. Once the chip nearly got him while Bizzer was takin' his noonday nip. After that Bizzer never let him alone, an' the little feller give up the fight an' went out into the cold world to grub fer nuts like an ordinary chipmunk. I was sorry to lose him, but I'd got mighty fond of Bizzer, an' I wouldn't have traded him fer 50 of Bill Eversole's yaller purps."

"Ef that wonderful bee had ever set foot on Sarcher," began Bill, pricked to wrath, and never got any farther, for there was a chorus of protests against the interruption, and Uncle Hi mildly preferred a request that somebody tell him whether he was telling this story or Bill Eversole; also that they tell Bill. That gentleman having been squeaked, the old man continued:

"Wal, it never occurred to me that Bizzer was anythin' but a pleasant companion. I didn't figger as how he should be made to work fer his livin'. It was enough to just have him aroun' fer company. But one day late in June after Bizzer an' me had got mighty well acquainted a feller come spookin' aroun' my honeysuckle vines with a big net. He was a harmless critter an' pleasant spoken, an' he had a bottle in his pocket that was somethin' extry. He said he was collectin' butterflies, an' if I hadn't no objections he'd like to hunt a few in my garden. I hadn't none, so he hunted. After he'd ketchesd some he come aroun' to me settin' on my doorstep an' I ast him what luck."

"'Pritty good," says he. "I didn't git one species, though," he says. "They fly too high," says he. "They don't come down much this time o' year. I'd give a quarter apiece fer them fellers," he says."

"Then he pulled out his bottle again and passed it over."

"Mind ef I give a sip to my friend?" I asked.

"Certainly not," says he, very polite, but he looked a little huffed when I poured a bit on the doorstep."

"I buzzed with my lips an' Bizzer come a-hustlin' an' settled down in the whisky."

"Shoo!" says the stranger. "There's a bee in the whisky," he says. "First bee I ever saw drink liquor," he says."

"Wonder if it'll make him drunk?" "It will not," I says. "He never gets a drunk."

"Whew!" says the stranger. "They drink right along then, do they? This must be a hot township," he says, "where even the insects hit the bottle."

"That's my bee, stranger, I says. He's got enlightened tastes. Come up, Bizzer, you've had enough."

"Bizzer gave me a reproachful look, fer he appreciated that whisky. It was better than what he was used to, bein' fed regular on Hank Hiver's fancy pison. No offense, Hank. Yes, it was hard fer Bizzer to break away, but he done it an' came an' sat in my ear. That bug-hunter was astonished."

"Will you sell that bee?" says he. "No, sir," says I. "Not to Vanderbilt," I says. "That bee ain't fer sale."

"He's a great insect," says the feller. "I'd like to have him."

"You'd like to lock him up in a museum, where he'd buzz his life away fer a curious public," says I. "None o' that fer Bizzer."

"Wal," says he, "I s'pose I could make a good bit out of showin' him off," he says, "but it wasn't that I was thinkin' of," he says. "I could use him in my business," he says."

"How's that?" I asked him.

"Why, if that bee was mine," says he, "I'd learn him to hunt them butterflies that fly so high I can't reach 'em," he says."

"How'd you go to do it?" says I. "I don't just know how," he says, "but any bee that's smart enough to be a judge of good whisky," he says, "wouldn't make no job of ketchin' a few butterflies," he says. "Pass your friend another drink," he says."

"We had a drink all around, and I asked the stranger if his offer of a quarter a-piece held good fer them big high-flyin' butterflies. He said it did, and described some other kinds he'd give the same price fer."

"It's a go," says I. "If you'll go out an' ketch me a dozen butterflies of any kind I'll do the rest."

"I'd got an idee into my head. So the feller ketches the butterflies an' went away, promisn' to come back next week. Wal, I took them butterflies inside the house and took an' painted the back of one of 'em with whisky and sugar. Then I put Bizzer's nose into the mixture jest to let him know what it was, an' turned the butterfly loose an' up went Bizzer after it. Wal, I hollered fit to split. It was funnier than the minstrels to see that fat bee a-chargin' an' dartin' at the butterfly, an' the butterfly not knowin' what it all meant an' scared most to death. Once Bizzer got a good grip with his feet on to the butterfly's back, they came down in a heap together, fer Bizzer's weight was too much."

"With one butterfly after another I kept trainin' Bizzer all that day an' got him so when I'd say 'Nail 'em, Bizz,' he'd jest soar up to the ceilin', size up the game an' come swoopin' down onto it like a hawk onto a chicken. Of course, every time he got a butterfly he'd eat the whisky an' sugar offen its back. Next day I tried him with a butterfly that wasn't painted. He took after it all right, but he looked s'prised an' disappointed when he got it, an' sort of scratched his ear with his paw like he was sayin' to himself: 'This kind of butterfly ain't got no honey. Guess again.'"

"But I gave him some whisky as soon as he an' the bug landed, an' after a little time I learnt him that he was to ketch any bug I sent him after an' he'd git his drink. After that it was all easy goin'. All I'd have to do was to take him out into the garden on a shiny day an' hold him on my finger till I see a butterfly I wanted. Then I'd point that one out an' say: 'Nail him, Bizzer,' an' in two minutes that bug would have a pin through him. I never knowed him to sting any bug he was after but once. That was a big mothmiller that happened to be out in the daytime in my garden, an' when Bizzer tackled it it was so strong that Bizzer was gettin' flew away with."

"One little jab was all the moth wanted. He come down so hard it like to a stunned poor Bizzer. Wal, when the feller with the net come back the next week he an' me had a settlin' an' he paid me over jest seven dollar an' seventy-five cents. That's what you might call good business. Don't s'pose any of you fellows ever made as much as that in a week unless it's Hank. Bill Eversole's dog was only wuth five dead an' that's a heap more'n he'd ever have brung alive."

"Where is this all-fired smart bee?" demanded Bill. "Why don't you fetch him aroun' so's we can see him. A stranger might think you was lyin'."

"Don't you fret, Bill Eversole," said Uncle Hi. "You'll see Bizzer some day. I'm goin' to set him gyardin' my melon patch later in the year if he recovers all right. Couple of days back I sent him up after a yauer butterfly, an' jest at that moment one of these blunderin' locuses come boom'n' along an' there was a turrible collision in midst air. Both of 'em come down together floppin' an' rollin' on the ground, an' the big locus rattlin' like a sawmill. Pretty quick Bizzer got in a couple of stabs an' it was all over with the locus. When I come to pick Bizzer up, though, he was all knocked one-sided. He's to home now with three legs in a sling an' his left wing in splints. It's time I was goin' back to look after him, an' say, Hank, if you'll jest fill that bottle with a superior brand of whisky fit for a sick bee an' put it down on my account at the same rate, I'll take it kandy. Educated bees ain't like educated dogs. They're scarce, an' as long as mine lives nothin's too good fer him."—N. Y. Sun.

King Oscar Was His Host.

A story illustrating the simple bonhomie of the king of Sweden and Norway is told by M. Gaston Bonnier, the botanist. M. Bonnier was botanizing near Stockholm, when he met a stranger similarly occupied. The two botanists fraternized and M. Bonnier suggested that they should lunch together at an inn.

"No; come home and lunch with me instead," said the stranger; and he led the way to the palace and opened the gate.

M. Bonnier was naturally astonished, but his new acquaintance was most apologetic.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but I happen to be the king of this country, and this is the only place I've got to entertain anybody in." So they went in and lunched, and talked botany together all the afternoon.—Chicago Times-Herald.

A MONSTER DEVIL FISH

Destroying its victim, is a type of constipation. The power of this murderous malady is felt on organs and nerves and muscles and brain. There is no health till it's overcome. But Dr. King's New Life Pills are a safe and certain cure. Best in the world for stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Only 25 cents at C. E. Holton's drug store.

A powerful engine cannot be run with a weak boiler, and we can't keep up the strain of an active life with a weak stomach; neither can we stop the human machine to make repairs. If the stomach cannot digest enough food to keep the body strong, such a preparation as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure should be used. It digests what you eat and it simply can't help but do you good. Howard Gardner.

NO RIGHT TO UGLINESS

The woman who is lovely in face form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at C. E. Holton's drug store.

LAND SALE

North Carolina, } In Superior Court
Guilford County, } Before Clerk.

Laura S. Kerr, Executrix of Jno. W. Kerr, deceased, and Hattie C. Kerr, et al. (infants) by their next friend, A. W. Cooke, Ex Parte.

By virtue of the power conferred upon me, and direction given in a certain order of the Superior Court of Guilford county made by the Clerk thereof in the above entitled cause, I will, as Commissioner of said court, sell at the court house door in Greensboro, N. C., on Monday, the 4th day of March at public auction, to the highest bidder, the following described lot and parcel of land situated in the city of Greensboro, and described as follows, viz: One lot located on the north side of West Whittington street, fronting said street 78 feet and running back 148 feet, upon which is situated two houses for residence, one a single room house and the other a double room house, sufficiently far apart as to accommodate different tenants, and adjoining the lands of Henry Williams on the east, F. M. Keith on the west and the land of the petitioners on the north. There is also a fine well of water upon said lot. Terms of sale, one half cash, the remaining payment to be made in six months, deferred payment bearing interest from date of sale. This the 2nd day of February 1901.

A. L. BROOKS,
Commissioner.

AN ANCIENT BELIEF.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Any one who has had an attack of static or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the affliction is demoniac enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

RHEUMATISM—CATARRH—DISEASES CURED BY B. B. B.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air, blood purifiers, have failed to do B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure and so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

THE APPETITE OF A GOAT.

Is evied by all poor dyspeptics whose stomach and liver are out of order. All such should know that Dr. King's New Life Pills, the wonderful stomach and liver remedy gives a splendid appetite, sound digestion and a regular bodily habit that insures perfect health and great energy. Only 25 cents at C. E. Holton's drug store.

The most soothing, healing and antiseptic application ever devised is DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It relieves at once and cures piles, sores, eczema and skin diseases. Beware of imitations. Howard Gardner.

A POWDER MILL EXPLOSION.
Removes everything in sight; so do drastic mineral pills, but both are mighty dangerous. Don't dynamite the delicate machinery of your body with calomel, croton oil or aloes pills, when Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are gentle as a summer breeze, do the work perfectly. Cures headache, constipation. Only 25c. at C. E. Holton's drug store.

Millions of people are familiar with DeWitt's Little Early Risers and those who use them find them to be famous little liver pills. Never gripe. Howard Gardner.

A new remedy for billiousness is now on sale at C. E. Holton's drug store. It is called Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. It gives quick relief and will prevent the attack if given as soon as the first indication of the disease appears. Price, 25 cents per box. Samples free.

Like bad dollars, all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are worthless. The original quickly cures piles, sores and all skin diseases. Howard Gardner.

HOWELL, IND., Nov. 26.
I will always praise Wine of Cardui. It has done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken in my life. Please send a book about female diseases to the ladies whose names I enclose.

Mrs. MINNIE STODGHILL.

McLREE'S Wine of Cardui

It isn't necessary for a woman to give particulars. When she says she has "female troubles", other women know what that means. It means days and nights of endless suffering. It means headaches which no tongue can describe. It means that terrible bearing and dragging down in the lower abdomen. It means agonizing backache, and shoulder ache, and arm ache, and aches in the lower limbs. It means nerves on edge—the blues—despondency and loss of hope. It means debilitating drains that the doctors call leucorrhoea. It means martyrdom—sometimes even death seems preferable. And still Wine of Cardui will utterly put those diseases and pains to rout. It has cured thousands of cases when nothing else on earth would. To the budding woman, to the bride, to the wife, to the expectant mother, to those going through the Change of Life, this Vegetable Wine is a blessing.

A DISTRESSING CASE.

A Home Ruined and a Father Deprived of His Child.

Durham Sun.

A very distressing scene was witnessed at the West Durham station Tuesday afternoon, when the west bound mail reached that point. Mr. J. H. Freeland of this city, was at the station with his little daughter, intending to take her to his people in Orange county, to raise, as there had been grievous domestic troubles in the Freeland family, and Mr. Freeland desired to get her away from her surroundings.

Mrs. W. T. Saunders, the grandmother of the little girl, who lives on South street, having heard of Mr. Freeland's plans, boarded the train in Durham, and when it reached West Durham, and Mr. Freeland and his daughter got on board, Mrs. Saunders grabbed the child, and Mr. Freeland grabbed Mrs. Saunders, and for a while there was a vigorous scuffle, amid screams and abusive language, when passengers interfered and parted them. All three got off the train, and the little girl, in possession of her grandmother, left for the South street home, leaving the disconsolate husband in a more dejected state.

It is a very distressing case. Mr. Freeland says his wife has deserted him—gone to Richmond—carrying with her their youngest child. His home is broken up by the unfaithfulness of his wife. The little girl is still with her grandmother, and it is understood that Mr. Freeland is taking legal steps to get possession of his daughter, and he desires to place her with his people in Orange, who are well-to-do. Mr. Freeland's father was here to day, and the poor old man is in the depth of grief over the sad ending of his son's once happy home; the perfidy of his daughter-in-law; and the scene enacted Tuesday afternoon.

Had Ring in an Ash Box.

By a skillful piece of detective work yesterday, Chief Scott recovered a purse and a ring that had been stolen from a young lady in the Southern Loan and Trust Company's building. The thief was Emma Harden, a woman who cooked for Mrs. Willis. She had been calling by for a small girl that worked at the Southern Loan and Trust building, and while going by had gotten the purse, in which was the ring. The owner was very anxious to get back the ring, as it had a peculiar value. When the woman called last night for the girl, officer Pearce was there and detained her until Mr. Scott came. This gentleman, knowing the ways of the petty thieves, caused the woman's hat to be removed suddenly from her head, whereupon the missing purse fell out. But the ring was not in it. Mr. Scott afterwards got the woman to tell where it was, and she had hidden it securely, sure enough. She said it was in the ash box of the range in Mrs. Willis' kitchen. There sure enough, Mr. Scott found it. It was warm and blackened, but uninjured.

No Men in It.

ANSWER TO HER PRAYER.

I know you won't believe it
But I tell you boys, it's square,
And nothin' now can ever shake
That gal's belief in prayer.

You know our town of Kirksville,
And that cyclone that laid bare
The spot and sent the houses
A-flying through the air.

I won't tell all that story,
For the horror of that night
Is known to all. But Kirksville went
Like blowing out a light.

My little gal, just nine years old,
Was always great on singin'
And in the Sunday school you'd hear
Her voice come clear and ringin'

And on their organ—don't know how—
But she could play real tunes
That she picked out while hanging round
The church on afternoons.

She wanted a piano,
And she wanted it worst way,
And begged and teased, no matter what

Her ma and me would say.

You see I couldn't buy one,
For the times had been too tough,
And all that I could scrape each day
Wasn't any more'n enough.

But Molly's heart was set as rock—
And on that very day
She didn't do a thing but sing
And pray and sing and pray.

She prayed for a piano
And said she knew 'twould come,
For God would answer earnest prayers
And bless the honest home.

Then came that storm—you know the tale;
And boys—now there's the proof—
While things was worst that piano come

A-burstin' through our roof!

The houses blew to pieces
And went sailin' through the air,
But that piano stood right up
As though 'twas planted there.

And when the storm was over
And Molly understood,
She dropped right on her knees and said,

"I told you God was good."

And now you cant make Molly
Believe that it wasn't her prayer
That sent that Kimball piano
You see a-standin' there.

Sixteen Months Steady Wear

For a pair of our Goodyear welt calf shoes.

"I bought these shoes of you in October, '99 and have worn them every day and Sunday too for nearly sixteen months." That's what a mighty reliable citizen of Greensboro told us a few days ago about a pair of our $2.50 Goodyear welt shoes when he came in to get another pair. They are splendid wearing shoes made of plain American calf skin that does not crack or peel up, comfortable and neat. We have them in plain and cap toes, laced and Congress, all sizes.
